

Papal Nuncio, Archbishop Pietro Sambì
Endorses Christopher Ferrara's Book:

The Secret Still Hidden

A recent edition of Inside the Vatican magazine (August 2011) begins with an editorial by Robert Moynihan (Editor-in-Chief) entitled "Passing of a Friend", a tribute to Archbishop Pietro Sambì, who served as the Papal Nuncio to the U.S. and passed away recently. Mr. Moynihan shared "four memories in particular of Archbishop Sambì" and the second is as follows: [bold and underlining not in the original]:

*"We were discussing the Third Secret of Fatima, the allegations that the Vatican has not published the entire text of the Third Secret as revealed to Sister Lucia, and the response of Cardinal Tarcisio Bertone, the Vatican Secretary of State, in a book where Bertone states that there is nothing more to be revealed. Archbishop Sambì said, "Excuse me." He got up, went out of the room, and came back with a book. "Here," he said. "Do you know this book? You should read it." It was Christopher Ferrara's

The Secret Still Hidden. "Wait," I said. "You are the Pope's representative in the US, and you are urging me to read a book that questions what the Secretary of State wrote?" Archbishop Sambì replied, "All I am saying is that there are interesting things worth reading in this book. And in the end, we are all after the truth, aren't we? The truth is the important thing ..."

We are profoundly encouraged by this recent revelation that Archbishop Sambì, a man close to the Holy Father, had read and accepted the whole truth about Fatima as presented in the Fatima Center's recent publication of The Secret Still Hidden.
